How a Husband Should Be Regarded.

At a recent meeting of Sorosis, at which the subject of "Husbands" was discussed, Mrs. Herrick attributed the failure of marital happiness to girls being taught to expect too much happiness from marriage, and that love is its only essential by romances, poetry, songs and tradition. But, while not belittling love, she claimed that respect based upon superior qualities; esteem for those attributes that would make the wife desire the husband as a friend if she could not have him for a husband; common sense, which teaches her that a faulty woman need not expect a perfect husband, and great patience—"that passion of noble souls"—are quite as essential elements in the domestic bliss.

She cautioned the wife against holding up her soul to her husband always with a thorn in it. Men cannot understand intangible griefs and unrest. She also said that one of the first lessons a wife has to learn is that her husband has a right to his own individuality, and that, while she can inspire him to greater achievement in a work for which he has a bias, she cannot, as she may fondly dream, mold his character, and she wouldn't respect him if she could.

Girls should be taught that marriage is not the gateway of heaven, and that even at this Eden the angel stands with the flaming sword to turn back souls that seek an earthly paradise. Women should know their lovers so well that marriage can bring no great disappointments. Marriage is not a match made in heaven, but an earthly union founded on mutual respect, over which the love that made the bond possible sheds a tender influence.—New York Sun.

An Incident of Travel.

Not long ago, when one of the great through western trains left New York city, a man and a woman, aged about eighty, got on the cars. They were accompanied by a younger man, who appeared to be their son, who got their course ... Were it not ... the course ... honesty and experi... ... sympathizers, and upon inquiry it was found that they had but a very indefinite idea of the journey before them, and that they had only a dollar and some cents in money between them.

The passengers raised a collection which furnished them with a berth in one of the sleeping cars to Chicago and seven dollars in money. It was evident from their actions that neither of them had ever seen a drawing room or sleeping car before, and the luxury and comfort was something entirely outside of their experience. They went on, the picture of content, and it is to be hoped reached their destination in safety.—Poughkeepsie Eagle.

A Wonderful Dakota Well.

The reports from the artesian well at Huron, N. D., show that it is the most wonderful well known to exist. The water spouts up to a distance of about 100 feet, and the amount that flows from the well is tremendous, being estimated at from 8,000 to 10,000 gallons a minute. Even at the lowest figures enough water is ejected to furnish every man, woman and child in the state of North Dakota with at least four gallons of water every four hours.

As to the pressure, that has not yet been fully ascertained, but from tests already made it is known to be considerably more than 200 pounds to the square inch. With a fair test it is likely to reach 228 pounds. The pressure has steadily increased in the last three days, and may exceed the above figures.—Cor. Rochester Post-Express.

The Shot Shedding Ram.

The back frame of the big United States defense ram is now in place at the Bath Iron works and shows the skeleton of the great hulk in all its oddity. The philosophy of the whole thing is now made clear at a glance, and any man with an idea of the comparative ease with which a shot can be deflected when striking upon an angling surface will see that the gun capable of piercing that armed deck is not made yet. The only thing the strange looking vessel has to fear is a torpedo, and she is no more exposed to them than are any of the big battleships.—Lewiston Journal.

A Fireproof Solution for Dresses.

A chemist of Vienna has succeeded in discovering a composition which will make even the slight material of ballet dancers' dresses fireproof. The Prince of Lichtenstein gave this composition a first trial on the stage in his own palace in the presence of a numerous company. The rise of the curtain discovered two life sized dolls, dressed as ballet girls, to both of which a light was applied. One of the dolls was rapidly reduced to ashes, while the other, well saturated with the protective composition, escaped with a small hole in her dress.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

He Dreamed Wrong.

Pierre Ruan, an aged banker of Paris, had a prophetic dream a few years ago which told him that he would live until the year 1902. He was so firm in the belief that the dream was correct that he had a monument erected with his name, age and the date, 1902, cut upon it. The old man has just died and the marble cutter had another Pierre Ruan inscription and date put on.—St. Louis Republic.

Thrown From a Wagon.

Dennis Conroy's horse became frightened and ran away on Bloomfield Avenue last Sunday evening. At Race Street the animal ran on the sidewalk and collided with the fence, smashing the buggy and throwing Conroy to the ground. Conroy was considerably bruised and scratched about the head, but the horse escaped uninjured. Conroy was taken home by friends and his injuries attended to. Patrick Conroy, who was in the buggy at the time of the runaway, was slightly bruised.

Bloomfielders Hear the Rev. Mr. Elliott.

A number of people from this town attended the meeting of the Montclair Citizens' Committee of One Hundred last Friday night to hear the Rev. Walter Elliott, a Paulist Father, deliver an address. "Up Goes My Banner."

The other day a bright-looking young gentleman entered a Y. M. C. A. restaurant and ordered his dinner. Looking at the walls of the dining room he noticed a placard which read, "We will rejoice in thy salvation, and in the name of the Lord will we set up our banner." Next to the above was another, announcing "We are not responsible for Hats, Coats, Umbrellas or Overshoes left, exchanged, or stolen." The young man thought another card was necessary, so he reached up and took one down that was hanging near him, and on the back of it he wrote, "I once was weak, but now I am strong; I was a cripple, but now I am an athlete. A good Samaritan poured the oil of sympathy into my wounds and cured my infirmities by taking me to 270 Greenwich Street, New York, and placed upon my feet a pair of Coward's Common Sense Shoes. Do you eat Pineapples? Whether you do or not is a matter of little importance. The question we want answered is—have you ever worn PINEAPPLE CLOTH?

If you haven't we think you had better see it here. If you have we want to say that our collection of this beautiful fabric this year surpasses any of former years.

The Patterns are distinctly "French" in design—in other words dainty and pretty; Black, Navy Blue and Brown grounds with colored figures.

We also have, among the new Spring stock, Scotch and French Ginghams, many of them made by the famous "Anderson's, Whytlaws, Rutes and Greenless" people. These are at Lower Prices than anywhere else in Newark. You will find, besides, a fine line of Cheviots and Madras in Stripes and Plaids for MEN'S SHIRTS and LADIES' WAISTS. Indian Dimitys and Linen Lawns are here in a profusion of makes and styles. We are the only ones you can come to for Oxford Cheviot Shirtings in light grounds with stripes and plaids. No other house has them—at 12 1-2c. a yard.

Call, even if you don't care to buy. The early glimpse of Spring we give is cheering.
